February 2006 Replanting

Parcel # 042909440000

This 25-acre parcel was replanted in February 2006 with 9000 Douglas Fir in about 10 foot spacing.

The planting was completed by John Haas and his crew from Resource Renewal of Quilcene, Washington.

There was almost no mortality in the stand and the forest has additional volunteer trees as well, many of which are cedars.

There is a narrow horizontal band of trees (about 1 acre in all) that runs along the north property line. These trees were part of an earlier harvest designed to establish cedar in a root rot prone area. There were some Western White Pine planted there, as well.
